With 13-10 loss

Raiders end season

The Raider varsity football team lost a hard-fought contest with Liberty Friday night at home, 13-10.

The game marked the end of the 1984 football season.

Appomattox got on the scoreboard first, when Ron Kelso intercepted a Liberty pass with 6:44 left in the first quarter, and romped 56 yards into the Minutemen's endzone for six points. Kevin Kendrick's conversion kick gave Appomattox a 7-0 edge.

Liberty retaliated in the second quarter, when Jerome Thompson scored on a fourth-and-five situation at the Appomattox seven-yard line.

The scoring drive had begun on the Liberty 39-yard line 12 plays earlier, following an Appomattox punt. With a successful conversion kick, Liberty tied the score at 7-7, where it remained the rest of the first half.

The Raiders edged out in front again in the third quarter, when Kendrick hit on a 37-yard field goal.

Appomattox had drive to the Liberty 15, but were stalled by the Liberty defense, and faced a fourth-and-five yards to go for the first down.

With 4:55 remaining in the third quarter, Kendrick booted the ball through the uprights, and the Raiders assumed a 10-7 advantage.

But on their next possession, Liberty drove from their own 25-yard line into the Raiders' end zone for what proved to be the winning touchdown.

Thompson went in from five yards out on a first-and-goal situation, with 1:25 left in the third quarter. The Raiders blocked the extra-point attempt, however, and the Minutemen held a 13-10 lead with a full quarter to go.

It appeared that the Raiders were on their way to scoring again on their next possession, when the team drove from their own 12 to the Liberty 25. But the Minutemen stopped the Raider drive, and faced with a fourth and 10, Appomattox opted to try for its second field goal of the evening. The kick was short, however, and Liberty took over on their own 25, with 8:10 remaining in the game.

The Raider defense held Liberty on the next series of downs, and Raider Tim Austin took the Liberty punt to the Appomattox 40 yard line. The Raider offense drove to Liberty's 10-yard line, but the drive ended suddenly when Liberty recovered a fumble at the Appomattox 21.

Four plays later the Liberty punter mishandled a high snap from center, and Appomattox had the ball again on the Liberty 18. But on the next play from scrimmage, Liberty intercepted an Appomattox pass in the end zone to kill the Raiders' hopes.

The Raiders got the ball back once more with 49 seconds left, but Liberty iced the game with another interception with 24 seconds remaining in the game.

Ron Kelso was the leading runner for Appomattox, carrying the ball nine times for 48 yards. Russell Walton had 11 carries for 41 yards for the Raiders.

Tim Austin was Appomattox's leading pass receiver, with five catches for 81 yards. Mike Jackson had four receptions for 56 yards for the Raiders, and quarterback Paul Johnson completed 13 of 25 passes for 157 yards.

The Raiders ended the season with a 4-6 record.

Says ACS

Smoking is hazardous

By FRANCES ABBITT

"Do you smoke?" You shouldn't you know. It's hazardous to your health and the American Cancer Society has the statistics to prove it.

Because they care, the American Cancer Society is asking smokers to take a day off from smoking on this Thursday, Nov. 15, the Great American Smokeout.

The 1984 goal of the Great American Smokeout is to get at least one in every five smokers to give up cigarettes from midnight to midnight on Thursday, Nov. 15.

Larry Hagman is the National Chairman for the 1984 Great American Smokeout, for his fourth consecutive year.

The Great American Smokeout is now in its eighth year as an annual nationwide celebration.

According to the American Cancer Society, in 1983 just under 36 percent of American Smokers attempted to give up cigarettes on Smokeout Day. According to a survey conducted by the Gallup organization, over eight percent succeeded for a full 24 hours. One to eleven days later over four percent reported still not smoking.

Did you know that about 75 to 80 percent of all lung cancer cases are found among cigarette smokers, who represent less than one third of the adult population? The risk of developing lung cancer is ten times greater for smokers than for non-smokers, according to facts published by the American Cancer Society. Persons who smoke two or more packs of cigarettes daily are 15 to 25 times more at risk than non-smokers.

Approximately 55 million Americans still smoke. According to figures compiled by the American Cancer Society, 85 percent of smokers would like to quit and a great many have tried at least once to give up the habit.

The number of smokers who have quit is rising steadily. From 1978 to 1980 the ranks of former smokers increased by 1.8 million to 33.3 million. These people realize that smoking has been implicated in cancers of parts of the body other than the lungs, including mouth, pharynx, larynx, esophagus, bladder, kidneys and pancreas.

Cigarettes are not only detrimental to one's health but are the cause of more than one-third of all fire deaths.

Some say "Smoking helps keep one from getting fat." Well, smoking may not make you fat but it gives you wrinkles, yellows fingers, smelly breath and smoker's cough, according to the American Cancer Society report.

If you're a smoker, stop for one day, Thursday, Nov. 15. Try it, you might like it and think of all the money you'd save!

Mark Martin credited with QB sacks

Mark Martin

Mark Martin, a Spout Spring resident, accounted for two of the ten quarterback sacks amassed by the Emory & Henry College Wasps Saturday as they rolled by Maryville College 49-6.

Martin, a 5'10", 165-pound defensive back sacked the Maryville QB for losses totaling 14 yards. That effort contributed to E&H's success in holding the Scots to just 45 yards passing for the day.

Emory & Henry now is ranked as one of Division III's top five teams in passing defense. Prior to Saturday's game, the Wasps were allowing 91.5 yards per game. The Maryville performance has brought that average down to 86.5 yards per game, and Coach Lou Wacker speculates that the Wasps may move up a few notches in the ratings.

Emory & Henry now has a 5-4 overall record and a 3-2 conference scoresheet. The last game of the season is set for this Saturday at home against Georgia Southwestern College.

Martin is a freshman at E&H. He attended South Sumter High School in Florida where he was team captain and made the All-Area and All-district teams.

Coleman cited

Appomattox's Sally Coleman received honorable mention in voting for the 1984 girls basketball All Seminole District team.

Alice Apperson and Johnice Brown of Buckingham were named to the All Seminole District team, as was Rhonda Burks of Rustburg.

Others named to the All District team were Cary Cowlbeck (Liberty), Jenny Hecht (Altavista), Kim Willis (Gretna), Ann Callahan (William Campbell), Dina Thomas (Jefferson Forest), Debra Burch (Altavista), and Becky Norton (Liberty).

Apperson and Hecht tied for district Player of the Year honors. Betsy Blose of Altavista was named district Coach of the Year.

Area students can go hunting Monday

Public school students in Appomattox County will have the opportunity to go hunting on the first day of deer season this year, as Monday, Nov. 19, has been designated a day for county teachers.

Monday's designation is part of an ongoing effort to improve annual student attendance in public schools. The plan was formulated several years ago by the School Board, since the first day of hunting season has traditionally been one of poor school attendance. The plan has been successful which has resulted in the Board continuing with the practice this year.

Teachers will be involved in inservice activities from 10 a.m. until noon Monday, according to Lloyd Walton, superintendent of schools in the county. The inservice activities will be conducted according to subjects taught by the individual teachers, on a countywide basis.

From 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., teachers will be in their schools to meet with parents.

Walton said Monday that parents having specific plans, questions or ideas to discuss with teachers should call their child's school and set up an appointment with the teacher.

"Parents are encouraged to take advantage of this opportunity to visit the different schools and meet with their children's teachers."
